

GULF COAST FIELD MEET

Pascagoula High School Makes Clean Sweep, Winning Many of the Events and Bringing Home Both Silver and Gold Cups.

Last Saturday the much heralded and long wished for Gulf Coast Field Meet was held at Gulfport, in which nearly all of the coast schools took part. The program consisted of both literary and athletic events, and to stimulate interest among the schools the Gulfport Commercial Union offered two silver loving cups, one for the literary events and one for the athletic, the cups to be the property of the school or schools winning the highest scores.

Pascagoula High School prepared to enter every event, seventeen in all, and sent over a party of nearly seventy, including the chosen representatives, friends, teachers and sympathizers. And a jolly or more enthusiastic party of young folks never boarded a train than the one that left here Saturday morning to take the city of Gulfport by storm, and that no set of competitors ever achieved greater success, the following score of points made by the Pascagoula High School representatives will show:

LITERARY EVENTS.

Expression for girls over 14—Lola Lewis, first place, 3 points.

Expression for girls under 14—Kathleen Kell, second, 3 points.

Declaration for boys over 14—Louis Ros, second, 3 points.

Declaration for boys under 14—Hardin Walker, first, 5 points.

Music—No age limit, Edith Lloyd being first place, (Committee would not decide and Edith drew second place.)

In literary events the score was Pascagoula 19, Gulfport 14, Biloxi 10; a silver cup going to the first named.

Running broad jump, boys under 120—Louis Ros, first place, 5 points.

Running high jump, boys under 120—Louis Ros, first place, 5 points.

100 yard dash, boys over 120, Louis Ros, third place, 1 point.

100 yard dash, boys over 120—F. L. Watts, second place, 3 points.

One-half mile race, all classes—Howard Canty, first, 5 points.

One-half mile race, all classes—Henry Terreson, third, 1 point.

One-half mile relay, boys under 120—P. H. S. team, G. Blackwell, R. Walker, L. Ros, Harry Hill, second, 3 points.

EVENTS FOR GIRLS.

Seventy-five yard dash—Eunice Kell, third, 1 point.

One-hundred yard dash—Stella Krebs, first, 5 points.

One-hundred yard dash—Eunice Kell, second, 3 points.

One-quarter mile relay—P. H. S. team, Eunice Kell, Mable Krebs, Nora Mathieu and Stella Krebs, second place, 3 points.

Score in athletic events was, Pascagoula, 67; Gulfport 62; with Biloxi, Long Beach and Mississippi City coming next in order, H. H. S. again taking a cup.

Special note is made of the record of Louis Ros, the star athlete of Pascagoula High School, who won 27 points in track events, and 3 in literary, a total of 30. He led all of his competitors, making a remarkable record for endurance, and the chief credit for P. H. S. success is due to him.

When the field day party arrived home Saturday night, bringing home with them the two well-worn trophies after having made a clean sweep of all the prizes offered, their enthusiasm was unbounded, and their young voices were raised in lusty cheers for each winner, making the welkin ring with their vigorous "rah, rah's."

The following Monday morning when the pupils assembled in the P. H. S. auditorium they were still full of enthusiasm, and cheer after cheer greeted each of the heroes and heroines of the Saturday before as they appeared in turn on the platform, and speeches were made by all who could make speeches. Superintendent Walker then decided to give the pupils a holiday to allow them to fittingly celebrate their great victory.

Much praise is due the Gulfport Commercial Union for encouraging the meet by offering the two handsome silver cups as prizes, and P. H. S. most devoutly desire to tender their thanks to the committee and citizens for courtesies extended our boys and girls.

We are also requested to thank the Gulfport Herald and Biloxi Advertiser for the complimentary account of P. H. S. victory. To quote from the Herald, "The Pascagoula crowd just romped home with the bacon."

Chancellor Stevens has decided the suit of the Town of Watland against the Sea Wall Commissioners. The plaintiff alleged that the sea wall law was unconstitutional, but Chancellor Stevens decided against this view. The judge's decision holds the $60,000 bond issue valid. Work will commence on the sea wall as soon as the supreme court decides the appeal, if that tribunal affirms Chancellor Stevens' decision.—Gulfport Advocate.

In view of our longer growing season, our numerous legume crops especially fitted for hog feeding, and the cheapness of our lands, we have no hesitation in stating that the South can produce hogs at as low a price as any other section, and that there is no danger of the pumping plant of their water works breaking down. Every time a celebrity visits the Pass there is a big fire, a hotel or something else burns.

The Mississippi farmer is possessed of eleven innumerable crops for live stock production and soil building, while the few fortunate neighbors to the North has only five. With this advantage there is every reason why this should soon become the leading live stock State of the Union and one of the richest as to soil fertility. The two are closely allied and are usually found together.—Bulletin

The Latest Horror.

On our first page will be found a complete account of the sinking of the steamship Lusitania by a German torpedo, and the consequent loss of some 1,200 lives, 130 of them being of American citizens.

While this latest outrage against humanity, perpetrated in the name of war, has aroused the wrath and indignation of our people as has nothing before in the history of the nation, save the destruction of the Maine in the harbor of Havana a few years ago, it behooves us to remain calm, trusting to the wisdom, patriotism and cool judgment of President Wilson and his cabinet to lead us out of the difficulty, and this seems to be the sentiment of the country at large, as shown by the expressions of the leaders of thought and of the press.

President Wilson's latest expressions on the affair seem clear and firm enough to suit the most warlike of us, yet he is confident he can steer us clear of war, without sacrificing our national honor, and we have enough faith in his wisdom to believe that he can.

Building a Home.

It is the ambition of every one, at some time, somewhere, to have a home that they can call their own, and the ambition is a laudable one. Every family longs for the day when it can literally sit under its own vine and fig tree, free from the annoyances and inconveniences of renting from a landlord.

At no place in the round world are there greater opportunities for the realization of this dream than in Mississippi. There are millions of acres of land in the State that the plough has never touched, and which can be owned for an extremely reasonable price with terms to allow of paying for it.

Fertile cotton lands can be had at prices ranging from $10.00 to $20.00 per acre, and while this land at present would not produce very liberally, it can be rebuilt to better than its virgin fertility at no cost and little trouble. It is already cleared and ready for the plough.

Cut-over lands, sandy, warm and responsive, are to be had at prices ranging from $5.00 to $20.00 per acre, according to location. With the long seasons for growing, an abundant rainfall and other favorable conditions, there is no reason why the family with small means could not soon be believing in their own home and cultivating their own land.

Mississippi is blessed with favorable transportation facilities, being within a few hours of the greatest markets of the world, and the associations are handling produce in a satisfactory manner. The local markets are fairly good and afford a demand for a great deal of stuff that can be grown.

The family desiring a home of its own can get one in Mississippi for less than in any other section of the country, and at the same time be assured of a comfortable living as the result of honest toil. There is room and a hearty welcome for good white people who will come here and join hands with our people in developing the great resources of this favored section.

Mississippi Wheat.

According to reports of the United States bureau of crop estimates the forecast of winter wheat production in Mississippi on May 1, is 24,000 bushels as against the final crop estimate of 12,000 bushels in 1914. Meadow conditions are 82 per cent of the normal as compared with a ten year average of 87 per cent. Pastureage are 79 per cent of normal against 89 per cent condition for the 10-year average. Spring plowing is 85 per cent, completed against 78 per cent for the 10 year average. Spring planting is 77 per cent done as compared with 69 per cent completion for the 10 year average.

The report further shows a total of 40,000 tons of hay on hand May 1, this year, against 30,000 tons same time last year.

Wheat is bringing the producer, basis May 1, this year, $2 a bushel, against only 92 cents last year. Corn is bringing 92 cents, against only 83 last year. Oats are 68 cents against 59 cents, previous year. Potatoes are bringing 12 cents a bushel less, hay 40 cents a ton less, cotton 3.5 per pound less, and eggs the same as last year.

The total value of Mississippi's wheat crop on May 1, according to these figures, was $18,000 against only $11,000 the previous year.

One trouble with most of our brilliant thoughts is that they were original with the ancient thinkers.

Chicago needs to take something for its strike fever.

A War And A War.

Just fifty years ago witnessed the close of what was, perhaps, up to that time the greatest war of modern times, a war in which a great nation was divided, state fighting against state, family against family, even brothers against brothers; a war in which the united manhood of the South was fighting against fearful odds the united manhood of the north aided by the vast wealth and almost unlimited resources of a rich and powerful nation.

For four long years this civil war prevailed, calling into service the flower of young manhood and chivalry of both sides, until the South, exhausted and impoverished, had to give up the unequal struggle, to bow to the supremacy of the Union arms.

Her men returned to their devastated and impoverished homes, and with new conditions to face, which it is unnecessary for us to mention here, began rebuilding their lost fortunes and rehabilitating their war swept country. How they did this, and how they have builded up a mighty empire, our readers are well aware.

And now, after fifty years of peace and prosperity, there is scarcely a trace of any bitterness left by that mighty conflict.

They fought as heroes, both sides, wreaking fearful havoc where necessary, killing men by the thousands on the field of battle, destroying millions of property "in the fortunes of war," but doing so only in accordance with the rules of civilized warfare, nowhere molesting non-combatants, and nowhere, except in isolated cases that were condemned by North and South alike, where innocent women and children were harmed. The fact that there is now no bitterness between the sections, although there are still living, in public as well as private life, men who were prominently engaged in that strife, is an eloquent proof of this statement.

How different are the conditions existing today to the great war that is now being waged between the great nations of Europe, those nations that have boasted of their civilization and advancement. All the rules of civilized warfare have been cast aside, treaties with neutral powers have been disregarded as mere scraps of paper, small and defenseless nations have been invaded and their countries devastated without the semblance of excuse, non-combatants have no rights that are worthy of respect, property of all kinds is confiscated to suit the whims of some commanding officer, the bread is taken from the poor to feed the soldiers and horses of a rich and powerful nation, women and children are ruthlessly destroyed or worse to satisfy the anger and passion of an invading army, and last, but not least, peaceful citizens of neutral nations are sent to a watery grave, without a moment's warning, because of the intense hatred of one nation toward another. And they are all so-called Christian people, worshipping the same God and believing in the brotherhood of man. Well may we question the statement so often made by the pulpit and the press that the world is growing better.

When we consider these things, and contrast the actions of the heroes of fifty years ago, those of Lee, Grant, Farragut and Semmes and hundreds of others, whose memories we love to honor, with the war news we are reading daily in the papers, we should all North and South, thank God that we are Americans, and teach our children that to be an American is something greater than to be a king or an emperor.

"The preparation and publication of a newspaper involves much mental and physical labor, as well as an outlay of money. The common law principle is that when a man receives and uses a paper he is bound to pay for it. He benefits and receives a pleasure from such labor and expenditure of the publisher as fully as if he had appropriated any other product of another's labor, and by such act he is held liable for the subscription price."

This is the language of a decision handed down by a judge in a newspaper subscription case tried in Nebraska, and the same rule holds good in every state. The fact of a man taking a paper from the postoffice and reading it is prima facie evidence that he received some benefit from it, and he should therefore pay for same.

The Mississippi Press Association meets in West Point next week, and the citizens of that progressive little city are spreading themselves in preparation to entertain the newspaper boys. We regret our inability to attend this year—having just entered the business we have neither the time or the money to indulge in pleasures, but we promise our brethren of the press to be with them at their next session, if we are alive and in the business.
